

GREGORY E. DEMSKE
CHIEF COUNSEL TO INSPECTOR GENERAL
OFFICE OF INSPECTOR GENERAL
UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

Gregory E. Demske is the Chief Counsel to the Inspector General, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). As Chief Counsel, Mr. Demske is responsible for leadership and management of over 80 professional and support staff in the HHS Office of Counsel to the Inspector General (OCIG). Prior to being appointed Chief Counsel in April 2012, Mr. Demske served in a variety of management and staff positions in the OIG's counsel's office since 1990.

OCIG provides all legal services to the HHS Office of Inspector General (OIG), one of the largest inspector general offices in the federal government. These legal services include advice on audits, investigations, evaluations, and other activities of OIG. This work covers the breadth of HHS operations, which include Medicare, Medicaid, the Affordable Care Act marketplaces, Head Start, NIH, CDC, FDA, and many other programs in a department with a budget of almost $1 trillion. OCIG also advises OIG management on personnel and management issues.

OCIG initiates and resolves administrative health care fraud actions, including civil monetary penalty cases and exclusions from participation in Federal health care programs. These administrative actions arise independently and in conjunction with False Claims Act (FCA) cases involving Medicare, Medicaid, and other HHS programs, and often involve negotiation and monitoring of a corporate integrity agreement. OCIG represents HHS interests in FCA cases. OCIG also issues advisory opinions regarding the legality of proposed business arrangements under the Federal health care program anti-kickback statute and other authorities.

Mr. Demske received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Business from Miami University and a law degree from Ohio State University.